GIANTS HIT NAP RUCKER HARD, BUT TO NO AVAIL

The Glants, continuing their in and mauled Athletics. out career, lost to the Brooklyns again yesterday and are within easy striking distance of last place. The Brooklyns are pressing both them and the Bostons who dropped another in Philadelphia, closely. The Reds crept nearer by beating the Cardinals, while by cuffing the Cubs the Pirates made the race closer and took third place.

Dodgers gave the Giants a sound drubbring at Ebbets Field yesterday after-Victory was accomplished much after the same fashion on both occasions. But, whereas, Rube Marquard was allowed to proceed seven innings before the trap was sprung, Jeff Tesgiant in this frame. Three more were added in the next three innings at the expense of Schauer. Ferd Schupp gave the last in the seventh, so that the final score was nine for Brooklyn and only two for New York.

The once valiant Nap Rucker, who for two years has rocked upon his pedestal, never found a softer spot for his dinky curve and his slow ball. After the third inning he was always on Easy Street. His teammates, apparently hooked up to their 1914 batting gait, tore through Tesreau and Schauer so steadily that nome pitching soon became a matter of formality only.

home pitching soon became a matter of formality only.

The question of whether Rucker is back remains for future decision. Any sort of pitching would have beaten the Giants once they were put on the run. Rucker's game may be considered good because of the fact that he allowed only two runs in face of an overwhelming score. Yet at the same time it must be remembered that he yielded eleven hits. It may be argued that he eased up with a favorable lead. Yet he was hit as hard at the start as at the finish.

New York lacked the punch when it was needed most. An average wallop might have settled Rucker before he got a strangle hold on the game. In each of the first three innings opportunities galore rapped at the door. Snodgrass opened the game with a clean hit to right. Burns popped out trying to sacrifice, but Doyle came through with a clean single to centre that set Snod-grass upon third. Doyle beat O'Mara to second when the latter attempted an unassisted force play on Fletcher's grounder. This allowed Snodgrass to score and left runners on second and first with only one out. But the punch was missing in this pinch. Robertson's weak dribble allowed Getz unassisted to force Doyle at third. Merkle forced tobertson.

Almost as good an opportunity was lost in the second when Lobert walked and Meyers singled with none out. Miller made an excellent play on Tesreau's bunt and forced Lobert at third. Snod-grass was doubled with Tesreau when Fred's charleyhorse threw him on the way to first. Burns doubled to start the third. Doyle beat a bunt to Rucker. But when Daubert muffed the throw Burns foolishly tried to score, though Cutshaw, backing the play, had the Thus another chance was laid on the altar. .

Some tough luck was sprinkled inning rally. through Brooklyn's third inning rally. Five hits, an error and a base on balls did the damage. Only one of these hits was clean. The rest were infield scratches. The majority of them might have been prevented if the New York infielders had kept their heads up. They ampeared completely rattled, got in each appeared completely rattled, got in each way and mixed up things in Tesreau's pass to Wheat forced Miller's triple and Rucker's single in the fourth pried the first run off Schauer. Cutshaw singled and stole with one out in the fifth. Getz walked after Stengel had flied to right. Cutshaw and Getz worked a double steal on a short passed ball and both tallied on Miller's double. With one out in the seventh Getz doubled off Schupp. Jake was trapped on the lines on Miller's grounder, but delayed his death until the catcher reached second. Butter came through reached second. Ructer came through with his second pinch hit of the day for Brooklyn's last run. The score:

SOFT SPOT FOR NAP RUCKER.

Robinson couldn't have found a softer spot in which to exercise the once great Rucker. scored while Boone and Pipp were doubling Gandil and Neff. Gailia, who batted as well as he pitched, doubled so fiercely past Maisel in the third that the small Yankee couldn't shoot his hands up in time. Connolly's single and a force brought Gallia home. With nobody out in New York's haif Peck made an infield hit, but the Yanks at once came to a full stop.

Gandil was hit in the fourth, and on a sacrifice and a hit by Henry he came the rest of the way. Shanks walke! in the fifth. He stole second. Expense cutting by the Brookfeds caused Benny Kauff and Tom Seaton to announce yesterday that they had "left the club flat." Kauff said he was going to play with the Giants. Seaton allowed as how he probably wouldn't play at all any more. Moanings that sounded something like "bring suit" were emitted

Kauff and Seaton made up their minds to drastic action immediately after walking up to the pay window at Washington Park shortly after noon. Kauff exton Park shortly after noon. Kauff ex-pected to collect $1,000 and instead got $500. Seaton was disappointed similarly to a lesser degree.

The complaint of Kauff is over what he calls misinterpretation of the terms under which he came to Brooklyn from the Indianapolis Feds. The little out-fielder, who regards himself as a second Ty Cobb—or rather regards Cobb as a second Benny Kauff—had a contract with Indianapolis that called for $4,000 annually for three years. It had this year and next yet to run. When Kauff signed it he got $1,500 advance money which was to be deducted in three blocks of $500 on July 1 of last year, this year and next year.

It wasn't so long ago that Chase and Konetchy were rated as among baseball's crack first baseman. They may be so rated still, but if so fewer persons know it. A baseball sharp asks: "Why can't a man who has already reached second zo back to first if his presence on first is of more value than on second?" There are several questions along this line which could be asked. For instance, why can't a man who has made a home run run back the other way for two, if that would be of more value to his team?

a former Cornell player, and Clarence C. Pell of the Tuxedo Racquet and Tennis Club, national racquets champion. Pell showed that his skill is not confined to the racquets court, for he defeated his young rival after a hard fight at 4-8, 1-5, 6-2.

Frederick C. Inman, who was beaten in Pittsburg yesterday, arrived here in time this afternoon to vanquish H. W. Warner in straight sets at 5-1, 6-2. The grass courts were evidently more to Inman's liking than the day on which had been playing, for he showed some excellent tennis. Leonard Beekman, the national interscholastic champion, took a straight set victory from G. Colket Caner of Boston, a former national schoolboy champion, at 6-3, 9-7. Harold A. Why We Chose the EIGHT CYLINDER

"The Car of No Regrets"

For the past six years it has been our chief endeavor to demonstrate to every Metropolitan Motorist that our interest in his motoring pleasures and satisfaction become keener and more active after he has purchased an automobile than before.

This policy has proven so markedly successful that, in considering a new representation, we sought a Motor Car which, though reasonable in price, would in its road performance, silent running, comfort and dependability sustain and in every way back up the unusual effort and service with which we propose to support it.

After the most trying and exhaustive tests we have found this car in the Eight Cylinder KING at $1350 f. o. b. Detroit, and unhesitatingly recommend it to your consideration.

The KING was the first eight cylinder car-has been developed and perfected by a year of practical road work in the hands of owners, and is therefore just one year ahead of all competition.

> A ride in a KING is a revelation. Call and Try One.
